LOA Overview for 7-day waiting period (non-consecutive days)

NOTE: You will not perform an exercise. This is presented for discussion purposes only.

The 7-day waiting period begins with the first day missed after the day of the accident (employees are paid in full the day of the accident regardless of what time they went out). The 7 days can be consecutive or non-consecutive. When an employee is out for the 7-day waiting period, you count calendar days (which includes the weekends). If the employee is out a partial day with lost wages, you count that as one whole day. You would not count doctor's appointments or treatments for the accident as absences because employees are paid as if they worked for reasonable time and travel to the doctor. The determining factor for counting is lost wages.

For the purposes of illustration, we will assume that an employee (Shirley James) gets hurt on Thursday, 1/10/09 at 9:00 a.m. She gets paid for that day. Shirley goes to the doctor and misses the rest of the day and does not come back on Friday. Shirley has chosen not to take leave for the 7-day waiting period. That makes 1/11/09 the first lost workday (initiate step 1 below). Shirley returns to work on Wednesday 1/16/09 (initiate step #2 - Reinstatement). When you enter the Reinstatement, the previous LOA Action is automatically delimited to 1/15. That means that the system has counted days 1/12, 1/13, 1/14, and 1/15 as lost days 2 through 5 (which includes Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday). She works through 1/21. She calls on Tuesday 1/22 to say she has a doctor's appointment. The doctor takes her off work duty indefinitely (initiate step #3). Benefits would begin on the 8th lost day which is 1/24 (initiate step #4). The system automatically calculates her last two lost days in the 7-day waiting period as 1/22 and 1/23.

1. LOA Action – WC 7-day waiting period, dated 1/11 until end of time
2. LOA Reinstatement—WC complete, dated 1/16 until end of time (which delimited #1 to 1/15)
3. LOA –WC 7-day waiting period, dated 1/22 until the end of time (which delimited #2 to 1/21)
4. LOA—either WC Leave of Absence or WC LOA w/supplement, dated 1/24 until the end of time which delimited #4 to 1/23)

2.4 – Exercise: Leave of Absence – Military

Scenario

Kumar Reinaldo is a permanent employee at Cultural Resources.

He received active duty orders for 18 months. He is not eligible for differential pay. He wants to use 160 hours of a combination of vacation, bonus and holiday leave prior to starting his 30 days Reserve Active Duty.

In this scenario, a holiday is included in the time frame for which he wants to use leave. Therefore, you will enter the approved leave on the original LOA up to the date of the holiday, and then do a PA30 to enter the holiday and another PA30 to enter the remaining leave dates to total 160 hours.

NOTE: If an employee is eligible for differential pay, you must coordinate with your Agency's Payroll office to ensure that you send them the proper paperwork so that the employee is paid the differential amount while out on military leave.

Three LOA Actions must be completed for this exercise. In your work environment, you must process each LOA via ZPAA076:
